Kindness

2016 ANNUAL REPORT

LETTERS FROM:

Our CEO

Dear Friends and Supporters,

Each day, I see the lifesaving difference you make possible for so many animals who come through our doors seeking shelter, medical or behavioral care, and love at the Humane Society of Boulder Valley (HSBV). I am inspired by your support, which allows us to say “yes” to more than 7,000 animals every year, providing each with individualized care as soon as they arrive. We believe when pets and people are treated with kindness and respect, when healthy relationships flourish, and when families in need are offered a helping hand, we enhance the lives of everyone in our community.

2016 was another amazing year for animals and their guardians in Boulder Valley. At HSBV, our dedicated staff and volunteers worked tirelessly to improve the stay of animals in our care. We increased the amount of animals transferred to our shelter, giving a second chance to those who may not have had an opportunity to find a new home elsewhere, while diminishing the burden on under-served or over-crowded shelters from neighboring regions and communities. Even with this increase, the average length-of-stay for dogs and cats at HSBV decreased in 2016, as our cutting-edge Shelter Medicine and Behavior Modification programs continued to improve lives and creatively build and support paths for animals to enter our adoption centers. There, our amazing community can fall in love and find their new family members, opening their hearts and homes to pets in need.

From finding new homes for animals or reuniting them with their loved ones, to mending their bodies and using positive training tools to teach them skills to be successful in their homes, HSBV is committed to creating relationships between pets and people and being the safety net to strengthen and sustain them. If community members find themselves in need, we are here to help ensure their animals have shelter, food, care or medical and behavioral support so these bonds aren't broken, and families remain whole.

I invite you to read through the pages of this Annual Report and reflect on what you have helped us accomplish for pets and people in Boulder Valley. I am incredibly grateful for your generous support and belief in these special relationships. Together, we are enhancing the lives of animals and the people who love them, and making Boulder Valley an even better place to work, play and live.

Sincerely,

Lisa Pedersen
CEO

Dear Supporters,

The past two years have been a moving experience as Chair of the Board of Directors, working side-by-side with the staff, volunteers, donors and community members who care so deeply about the well-being of pets and their guardians in Boulder Valley. From early mornings at the shelter taking care of the animals and enriching their lives, to late nights planning events to raise critical funds for animals in need — and all of the love and compassion for pets in between — HSBV and its team are always there, providing a safety net for those who need assistance and sustaining so many healthy relationships between pets and the people who love them.

Each year, more than 7,000 animals walk through HSBV's doors seeking shelter, food, medical care, behavioral support, or a second chance at a happy life. Their innovative programs — many of which have inspired animal welfare agencies across the country — continue to make life better for animals who need individualized care, setting them up for a lifetime of success with their families. Hundreds of dogs and cats have benefited from the cutting-edge positive reinforcement training techniques of their Behavior Modification program, while thousands of vital surgeries have been performed by HSBV's skilled veterinarians thanks to the lifesaving Shelter Medicine program. Not only do these programs help animals find paths to the HSBV adoption centers, where they join new families in Boulder Valley, they also provide a true Safety Net of support for these special relationships, adding richness and unique, loving bonds to our lives and keeping pets and people together.

Serving as the Board Chair has given me the incredible opportunity to witness first-hand the impact HSBV makes in the lives of animals, their guardians, and our entire community. As I reflect on 2016, with my dog Riley by my side, I am amazed by the commitment and dedication all of HSBV's supporters bring to our mission. Inside this report, you will see just a small sample of the lives that have been touched by your kindness and generosity, and I hope it demonstrates the amazing results and acts as a reminder of what we can achieve together. Thank you, and I look forward to seeing the difference we can make for pets and people in 2017!

Sincerely,

Bonifacio (Boni) Sandoval

DEDICATED TO HEALTHY RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN Pets and People

The foundation of our mission is building and enhancing relationships between pets and people and sustaining those bonds between animals and their guardians in our community. From adoptions and lost and found services to dedicating resources to keep pets with their guardians in times of hardship, healthy relationships are the basis for everything we do. Last year, more than 5,200 animals found a loving family of their own through our adoption program. More than 850 lost and stray animals were safely reunited with their families through our lost and found services. Fostering richer and stronger bonds with their pets, over 4,100 guardians utilized the services of our Training and Behavior Center. Our Veterinary Clinic continued to ensure the health of over 6,000 pets, providing families with resources and expertise to address any medical concerns so their pets can live long, happy lives. We understand the immense joy our animal companions bring to our lives, how these relationships enrich our lives, and we're dedicated to keeping those bonds as strong as possible.

Coco was adopted from HSBV in 2015, but a recent accident left him with a broken leg needing immediate surgery. His devoted family needed support to afford the significant and sudden medical costs, and were heartbroken thinking they might have to relinquish him. Luckily, HSBV's Medical Access Fund, part of our Safety Net program, allowed Coco to stay with his loving family by providing assistance and a custom payment plan for his surgery. Your generosity helps to keep pets and people together and strong relationships intact, and Coco is continuing to bring lots of joy and laughter to his guardians' lives!

Lives Saved

BECAUSE OF YOUR SUPPORT

Clyde defied the odds and battled great adversity after falling victim to equine trauma – he was found in Eastern Colorado after being kicked in the head by a horse and in need of serious medical care. He came to HSBV through our Transfer program for diagnostics and surgery thanks to our innovative Shelter Medicine program and renowned veterinary team. Our skilled veterinarians diagnosed Clyde with severe ear trauma and infection, and HSBV partnered with the CSU SAST program (Saving Animals in Shelters by Teaching) to complete his life-changing surgery. He stayed in our care for the next few weeks for critical, follow-up care where our staff and volunteers played an essential role in keeping Clyde's spirits up – taking him on easy walks, giving him treats and attention, and filling his time with enrichment and love while he recovered. When his injury healed and the infection cleared, Clyde made his way into our Adoption Center after weeks of specialized care and monitoring. Soon, Clyde found his new, loving home and a new beginning in Boulder Valley. We think his smile says it all!

Merlin, a young adolescent cat, was lost and injured in Denver. Luckily, a good Samaritan found him and brought him to HSBV for supportive care through our Shelter Medicine program and a second chance at a healthy and happy life. Our skilled veterinarians immediately took action to examine Merlin's leg – he was limping, hesitant to walk and in pain. X-rays confirmed he had a fractured pelvis, so our dedicated veterinary team worked diligently to keep him comfortable in our clinic while he began to heal. The staff discovered Merlin was a "social eater" and would hold dishes of food while petting him to provide him nourishment to regain his strength. It wasn't long before Merlin was taking it easy in our Adoption Center, and that very same day said hello to Jordan, the man who became his new guardian. Jordan happily reports, "Merlin has not only fully recovered, but he is extremely energetic and athletic. He will race from one side of the apartment to the other, leaping from the floor to the top of the couch to the top of his cat tower as though there was never a broken hip to begin with. Each morning he greets us with lots of meows for pets and scratches."

Pie had a tough start to life after she was found abandoned in New Mexico, and with nowhere else to go, she was driven to HSBV by a good Samaritan. After a long journey, Pie was insecure and often overwhelmed, at times too fearful to walk from place to place – but her wagging tail told us she had hope. HSBV's innovative Behavior Modification program helped Pie on her way to feeling safe and social again. Skilled staff members and volunteers of our Training and Behavior Center spent daily one-on-one time with Pie, giving her individualized attention and helping her to feel comfortable around new people and places. Pie was eager to learn and each day made strides toward becoming a happy, confident puppy – letting her true self shine once she was given tools (and lots of treats!) to be successful. Before long, Pie's smiling face and newfound trust for patient and gentle interactions won over her new, loving guardians in Boulder Valley!

Thank you

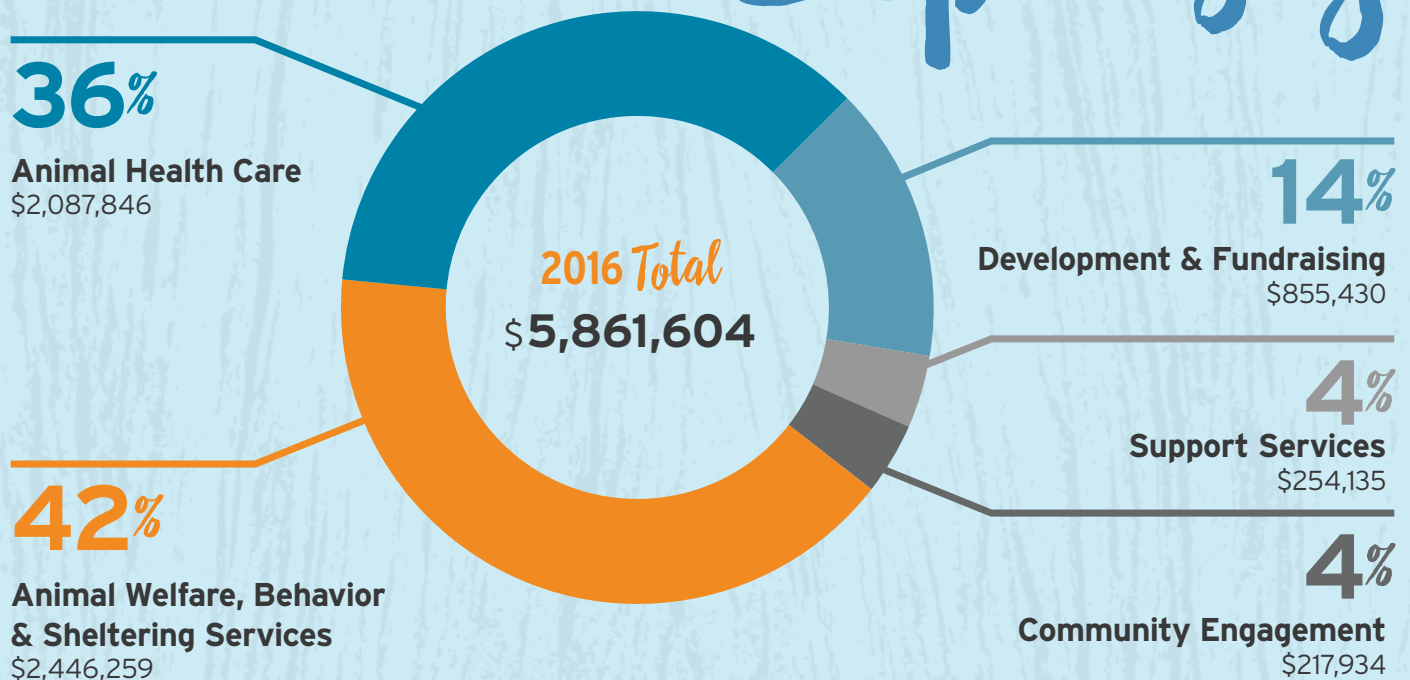

Your support for our innovative Shelter Medicine, Behavior Modification, Transfer, and Safety Net programs provide cutting-edge, lifesaving care to the animals coming through our doors, allowing them to have a healthy new start, or sustaining a unique, loving bond. We are dedicated to establishing individualized care and helping animals who face various challenges — from therapy and medical trials that improve physical health, to positive reinforcement training and kennel enrichment techniques that promote mental health. Additionally, when families find themselves in times of crisis or need assistance, we can provide shelter, care, resources and a second chance to pets and families who need our help. As a result, we can safely and successfully place dogs, cats and small mammals in new homes, build and sustain strong relationships in Boulder Valley, and enhance the lives of pets and the people who love them in our community.

A LEGACY IN Action

The love of his dogs — most recently Oliver — provided long-time supporter and dear friend of HSBV, Ed Harris, with unconditional love, companionship, purpose, and community throughout his life. These relationships were what inspired Ed to enroll in our Companion Care for Life program (CCFL) and leave HSBV in his will, hoping we could always be here to support the special bonds between pets and people. When Ed experienced a health crisis in the fall of 2016, CCFL provided Oliver with a foster home, love, and care while Ed was hospitalized, giving him great peace of mind while he recovered until they could return home together again. When Ed passed away, his generous legacy gift included a significant portion of his estate, including his home, to HSBV. Ed's relationships with his dogs gave him so much in the way of quality of life, and his gift will ensure thousands more animals and families will experience the joy and love he shared with his beloved canine companions. Oliver was adopted by his loving foster family — the first of many life-changing relationships Ed's legacy will make possible.
